

An Essential Tool for Seed Stage Investors

ActSeed is designed to connect seed stage investors with well-prepared, relevant deal flow and entrepreneurs who demonstrate an ability to execute their plans.

Investors want to find the best prospects for private investment.

Investors want to remain discrete and relatively anonymous throughout while searching for deals. No need to draw attention from "stalker entrepreneurs" who don't fit investment parameters.

Investors want to avoid wasting time with unprepared and unorganized startups.

Investors shouldn't have to pay broker fees to see good deals.

Deal flow tracking should not feel like a full time job.

Even investors who are currently "on the sideline" should keep an eye on what's happening "on the field".

ActSeed's Value to Seed Investors

- No costs
- No transaction fees
- Register for ActSeed membership takes less than in three minutes
- Shield your actual identity from entrepreneurs until you are ready to engage and interact
- Complete a non-identifying profile that guides entrepreneurs to your interests while discouraging overtures from incompatible suitors
- Set up automatic, continuous deal filtering; option to have results sent to your email daily or weekly
- Block any communication from irrelevant and overly persistent entrepreneurs with one click

ActSeed's Value to VC & Angel Groups

- GPs and executive directors use ActSeed to source prospective deals
- Angel group members use ActSeed to find deals they want to recommend to the organizer of the group's monthly meeting
- ActSeed Scores can be part of the firm's initial due diligence process
- ActSeed is a venue to refer deal flow that may need more work before being ready to seek funding
